

THE LOOP

The moment the calendar changes to August 1st, we here on campus shift into high gear. Vacations are over, and the energy starts to rise! Student housing is starting to re-populate, faculty return with vigor for the start of the semester and the campus Starbucks spools up. We cannot wait to see your students in the coming weeks!

Resources

One of the best things to bookmark is the U's academic calendars. Looking for info on student breaks? Find it here! Looking for tuition deadlines? You've found the right page. It also includes handy links to other campus resources and office. Fall semester tuition is due August 30th!

The Campus Store is also another font of information. Digital textbooks and course materials can be easily found. Dorm room décor and essentials are aplenty. And right now, they are running their Apple back to school event.

Exciting news this year for Move-In Day! IKEA Draper is the U's official partner! Over 60 IKEA staff will be on campus unloading vehicles, directing students and families and running a pick-up location for online orders. Students can redeem the coupon in their Move-In guide before August 31st.

University Highlight

Perhaps you've heard? The Olympics are returning to Salt Lake City!

For those of us who were in Utah during the 2002 Winter Olympic Games we can attest to what an amazing experience it was. We are confident that 2034 will not only bring the world to our valley, but also a tremendous opportunity for the residents of Salt Lake City and the state as a whole. The U's Kem C. Gardner Policy Institute can attest to the economic impact. This report also delves into the travel and tourism impacts, airport passengers and visitor spending before and after the 2002 games.
